Appiah sees cosmopolitanism as a dynamic concept based on two fundamental ideas. First is the idea that we have responsibilities to others that are beyond those based on kinship or citizenship. Second is something often forgotten: just because other people have different customs and beliefs from ours, they will likely still have meaning and value.

Fine implies that human rights can be traced back through this broad ideal of cosmopolitanism which focuses on three things (global order, global peace and solidarity). Fine describes global order as this idea that there's a sort of order which exists across the globe, what that order looks like can be different in different instances.
