"Hurrah for Gin" by Katie Kirby is based on the blog from the same author. It is an alternative guide to life as a parent. This was a light and enjoyable read. It wasn't as laugh-out-loud funny as her blog posts (which frequently make me snort my drink -gin, obviously- out of my nose).

It's a book about parenting that contains absolutely no useful advice whatsoever. Instead, Hurrah for Gin shares beautifully honest anecdotes and illustrations from the parenting front line that demonstrate it is perfectly possible to love your children with the whole of your heart while finding them incredibly irritating at the same time.

Finally a book who takes my anxiety and bald surprise at the lack of "truth telling parents" and makes it feel all better. So relatable. I'll be getting this book for all my mom to be friends from here on out.

Katie Kirby (aka the Hurrah for Gin lady) documents life as a grown up with her clever stick people cartoons. She captures life as a middle aged parent very well - what it means to come to terms with being older and with balancing work, relationships, family and home life. Its funny, but created with a heart.

All Hurrah For Gin books make me feel warm and fuzzy, especially on the rare occasions when I don't have much to feel warm and fuzzy about. When I feel stressed or anxious about parenting (at one point, daily), I read her first book which would make me feel calm, and better able to take on a toddler in a rage over the texture of peas.
